I'm disgusted by the anti-trans rally in Melbourne yesterday, protected by their allies: saluting neo-Nazis.

The banners they march under and the hate they espouse have no place here or anywhere.

The rise of far-right extremism and white nationalism has ASIO's director 'gravely concerned', with the Australian Army today uncovering links to neo-Nazi groups within their own ranks.

The alarm bells have been ringing for years.

The Government needs to unblock its ears.

Footage of police kneeling an anti-fascist protester in the back of the head, whilst making way for neo-Nazis to march & salute down Spring Street is deeply disturbing to watch.

This is not Melbourne.

Every time a powerful figure in the media or politics uses the trans community as a political football, a masked coward grows more confident.

Stop.

The words we say matter, so let mine be unequivocal and clear: Trans Lives Matter.
