Dear Men,

Anyone can be a woman, if they say so, in the USA. So as soon as you're feeling a little feminine you can use the women's toilets, changing rooms etc. I'm especially talking to you lovely men who consider yourselves to be protectors. There's no material difference between you and the men who call themselves women all the time. Please ensure not to break any laws, so you really do have to say that you feel like a woman for a moment, but it can be very fleeting. This is a great way for American men who care about women to actually do something to protect us. The law states that men who are gender fluid, non binary, trans, thinking something for a fleeting second or twenty years can just use our space. Let's ensure this new set of rules is exploited until it's changed. The time for talk over, action is required.

Lots of love

And there you have it. Women's rights erased.

Only if you consider women's rights lesser than any other group would you think this is an outcome you were willing to accept.
