I will show my 11 year old daughter this evening. She has been passionate about the protection of her rights as a female, as a boy in her year 5 class has experimented with his gender and demanded access to the girl's toilets, girls sporting teams and the girl's dormitory at school camps. She has faced bullying and name calling from other girls she considered friends, simply because she has questioned. Curiously, the boy now presents once again as a boy, but she remains "transphobic". Who was standing up for her right? Today I can show her that someone is. I would dearly love to follow your example, and join you as a voice in the public square but for now have special needs children and a husband in ministry. I am thankful for the support your husband and children have given you to stand up and stand firm. Please know that I am praying for you, and that I will be distributing your speech widely. Go well and stand firm Danna Grills Highton

Dear Ms Deeming,

I just wanted to thank you for your spirited stand against gender identity ideology.

I have not been affected by the issue as deeply as many people, but I have still seen first-hand the harm caused by this cult-like ideology. In the lesbian community, it has broken up friendships and relationships and destroyed the physical and mental health of transitioned women and girls. In the social services sector (where I've worked) it has led to a dumbing-down of discourse and a failure to consider how removal of sex categories puts vulnerable clients at risk. In some families, it has turned impressionable kids against their parents and relatives, especially in the anxious, screen-based world of the pandemic.

○ We also heard some stories coming out of women's prisons here in Victoria that are truly horrifying. The utter disregard shown to incarcerated women - the total lack of interest in their physical safety, their basic dignity, and their chance of rehabilitation in a stable environment - shows what a lie all this "wokeness" is. Whatever a woman in prison has done, being locked up with a rapist should not be part of her sentence.

Thank you again for speaking out and I hope you know how much support you have, from many different points on the political spectrum.

Best wishes,
Jess

Message:	Hi Moira, Firstly, congratulations on becoming the member for Western Metro Region. My wife and I live in the Labor seat of Box Hill with Paul Hamer as our local member. We would like you encourage you to stand up for Christian Values in parliament, including family values. The Andrews government is likely the most anti-christian in the country. With laws covering abortion, euthinasia, same sex marriage and now parents are losing their rights to guide and influence their children to follow their biological gender with schools polluting our kids minds with gender fluidity education and even targetting pre-school kids TV with 'drag queen' role models. May God bless you and guide you as you represent your electorate, knowing there is a silent majority in the community who uphold Christian and family values.

Hi Moira,

My mother just showed me your maiden speech and I am so relieved that there is finally someone taking action against the horrific things the current government is introducing.

However I am also horrified to hear such atrocities happening like children in brothels - as a mother of two small children I just cannot even imagine. I am sickened.

I am nowhere near your electorate (I am in Blairgowrie on the Mornington Peninsula) but I will do whatever I can to support you and the courageous important work you will be doing to protect women and children.

My mother is so passionate about protecting women's rights and children also and we will do whatever we can to help. It is my mother who has brought all these terrible things to my attention as it is so hidden here.

If you know of anything we can do to support you or others like you in our areas please let us know.

But most of all - THANK YOU!!!!

All the women of Victoria, Australia, the world, thank you!

Please keep fighting. We are right beside you!!!!

Warm regards,

Laura Monterosso

Dear Moira Deeming,

Your speech in parliament about leaving teaching was inspirational.

I am a teacher, musician and I work also in communications. I reduced my teaching load to .6 so I could cope with teaching and I moved to the Catholic system in hope that I might find freedom of religion to be a practicing Catholic.

But... it seems gone are the days. I am being asked to reinforce the nonbinary identity of students as young as 8 and to hide the Catholic practice from the staff in my workplace.

Consequently I am looking now at the next step which is to move out of teaching and into another field. This is difficult as I see more and more workplaces flying rainbow flags and demanding people show their pronouns on their nametags. I would personally love to work for someone like you. I have been growing skills in the area of photography, publications, website building and communications and feel I could do a decent job as a PA or in PR/communications for people who still believe in the freedom to hold a conservative view or to practice their religion. If you know of a position or someone like yourself looking for an employee please pass on my email.

Regards and congratulations on an excellent and inspiring speech,
Jes Earle

I would like to go through your speech carefully to find these points again. Our church has sent me the link to watch it. I have been wanting to join a political party for quite some time and wonder if there is a women's lobby group or what can be done about this situation.
