Hi Rebel,

I'm so sorry to hear this and I'm so sorry I couldn't get to the call. Although I think there's a small mercy here: we see true colours which have previously been hidden. Amanda has previously been able to hide behind Vince. I'll call you tomorrow to discuss next steps. There are these two points. I have a plan which I think should work for you in the way you need.

Subject: Awful Zoom call THE DEB

Hi Angharad and Charles,

Sadly the Zoom call with Amanda and Vince went terribly last night. I was disappointed Charles was not able to join because of an issue with his phone.

They were both highly aggressive towards me, demanding I share with them the stage rights to the project (even though the contract clearly states I own 100% of stage show rights).

They then would not take responsibility for adding their own producing fees, above and beyond what was in our already agreed contract - and not even informing me before adding them into the budget is unconscionable when we are 50/50 partners.

They have not given a soundtrack agreement that is anywhere near fair or what was promised. Instead Amanda is now demanding $1 million dollars for her to produce the soundtrack.

I don't know what to do or say at this point. I have been working so extremely hard every day. I have always acted in good faith and been completely transparent. I have done 3 full drafts of the script for free, incorporating all their notes. I am fulfilling all duties. I have added lyrics to half the songs, I created 50/50 the new song UGLY for my character with Amanda. And now they're threatening to not fund the film and have treated me with absolute disrespect.
