I spoke with Nicky and they were super happy to have someone Canberra based to help out. She's stepping up to senior adviser and needed additional support in media. Basically they are wanting me to handle the east coast stuff/cabinet and she'll do major events, campaigns and WA.

Yeah, can definitely imagine!Are there many people who do two sessions a day on the GC?

Actually pretty good. I really like the Reynolds team, they are super relaxed. The remaining Defence Industry people are being such a pain though.

I've been packing up the whole Reynolds office by myself. Organising all the changes to the ministerial office too. And all the advisers are just fighting between themselves about stupid stuff doing basically nothing.

They all had this team teleconference about admin stuff in the ministerial suite, no-one told me about it and were tasking stuff to me for me to do throughout apparently. It's just super frustrating.

The only thing I really want is for this to not get out and become public knowledge.

Besides my parents you're the only person who knows (outside of Fiona and whenever she takes it to the Minister and apparently it has to be reported to PMO).

Hi Fiona,

Following our conversation yesterday, I'd really like to see if there any opportunities for me to either join CHQ or assist in a marginal SEQ seat during the campaign.

Given recent events, I am finding it hard to be in this office. Staff are treating me differently and I feel are blaming me for Bruce's departure which is grossly unfair given he attacked me.

Being closer to home and around my family and friends during the campaign will provide the support I need to overcome this assault.

Also, can you please advise where I can get information about Comcare incase I am unable to relocate and cannot continue working. I imagine I would be covered, given I was attacked in our office by a fellow staff member.

Thank you for your help and support,

-Brittany

Thank-you for doing that. Honestly, I really appreciate it. The help is beyond welcomed.

I wouldn't say it's been handled poorly, just a difficult situation to manage. Seriously, Fiona is great. I just think there has been a lot of competing things going on.

No dramas. More than happy to help. She should be checking in with you more, she, and govt, have a duty of care. Hopefully this makes easier for you. Even if they suggest a period of paid leave or something

If it stops raining then I will.

Otherwise I'll just go into the city then come back to go swimming in the indoor pool at the hotel.

The EO staff are being super territorial and the Minister is being kinda weird. Dean is ready to bail back to the

They've been in this meeting trying to hash it out all morning. It's all very serious hahah

It was awesome. One day I want to be in the PM pack so badly. So much fun getting to experience it even just from the proximity.

James from Sky was low key trying to be smooth. That was hilarious too.

It just sort of reminds me of my situation I guess.

How it can be turned into a story and everyone is basically just empathising with the perpetrator of the harassment.

Kinda shitty.

I'm not sure why but I just feel super angry at the moment. It's probably misdirected and should be aimed at Bruce but I feel so pissed at the people in the party.

I was literally assaulted in your office and I collectively maybe took 4 days off/was offered jack shit in terms of help.
