A. INTRODUCTION

1. This Statement of Agreed Facts (SOAF) is made for the purposes of s 191 of the Evidence Act 1995 (Cth) jointly by the applicant, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC), and the respondent, Coles Supermarkets Australia Pty Ltd (Coles).

2. This proceeding concerns 255 promotions (the Particularised Promotions), relating to 245 unique products (the Relevant Products), operated by Coles as part of its 'Down Down' promotional program (Down Down Program) during the period from February 2022 to May 2023 (the Relevant Period).
3. Agreed facts with respect to the Down Down Program are set out in Section D below. Agreed facts with respect to the details of the Particularised Promotions, including with respect to the price of the Relevant Products throughout the Relevant Period, are set out in Annexure 1. The start and end dates for each Particularised Promotion, and the promotional price at which the applicable Relevant Product was offered for sale as part of that promotion, are identified in Columns H to J of Annexure 1.
4. Except where otherwise indicated, the facts below were applicable during the Relevant Period, including where those facts are stated in the present tense.

B. BACKGROUND

B.1. Parties

5. The ACCC is a body corporate established by s 6A of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) (CCA) and is entitled to sue in its corporate name.
6. Coles was at all material times and is:
 - (a) a corporation within the meaning of s 4 of the CCA;
 - (b) able to be sued; and
 - (c) supplying goods and services in trade or commerce in Australia in connection with, amongst other things, the supply of grocery items in supermarkets and online.

B.2. Coles Supermarkets

7. Coles is a subsidiary that is ultimately owned by Coles Group Limited (Coles Group).
8. During the Relevant Period, 'Supermarkets' was a business segment for the purposes of Coles Group's financial reporting.
9. Coles is the operator of the second largest supermarket chain in Australia, which (as at June 2023) had more than 840 supermarkets nationwide (hereafter referred to as 'Coles Supermarkets'), including around 21 small-format 'Coles Local' stores. The 'Coles Local' stores have a smaller range of standard grocery items compared to a usual Coles store. There are Coles Supermarkets located in every Australian state and territory.

10. Coles also operates an online retail platform called 'Coles Online'. This offers consumers the ability to shop for groceries online, with the choice of home delivery or pick up from 'Click&Collect' locations. Coles Online may be accessed by consumers via the Coles Website (www.coles.com.au) or the Coles App (which may be used on mobile phones, tablets, and similar devices).

C. PRICING AND PROMOTIONS

C.1. Coles' pricing

11. Coles had state-based pricing during the Relevant Period. This means that, subject to limited exceptions, it charged the same price for each product that it offered for sale across all stores in a particular geographic region. These geographic regions reflected state and territory boundaries, save that Broken Hill (located in New South Wales) was included in the South Australia region, and Western Australia was split into two different geographic regions.
12. Again, subject only to limited exceptions, products offered for sale via Coles Online were priced consistently with products sold in Coles' physical stores.
13. Notwithstanding Coles' policy of state-based pricing, the majority of products were at all material times priced on a national basis, so the retail prices of products supplied by Coles were typically the same across Coles' physical stores nationally and Coles Online, with some exceptions.
14. An example of these exceptions is that some beverage products were subject to particular legislative requirements, namely the container deposit schemes which varied by states and territories. The exceptions to the general position, including as referred to in paragraphs 11 to 13 above, are not material to the issues of liability in this proceeding. Aside from those exceptions, the prices at which Coles offered the Relevant Products for sale throughout the Relevant Period, both in Coles' physical stores and via Coles Online, were as set out in Annexure 1.
15. Category Managers employed by Coles were responsible for a particular category or categories of products at Coles (for example, Soft Drinks), including deciding which products to range in that category, setting the retail prices for products, planning and implementing promotional programs for products, and negotiating with suppliers in relation to the sourcing of products and funding of promotions.
16. Each Category Manager reported to a Business Category Manager, who was responsible for a portfolio of categories comprising a 'business category'. Business Category Managers, in turn, reported to the General Manager that had responsibility for their categories. For example, the Category Manager for Soft Drinks reported to the Business Category Manager for Beverages, who in turn reported to the General Manager of Grocery.

17. Decisions about the retail price of individual products were generally the responsibility of the relevant Category Manager. From time to time, the relevant Category Manager may have also sought input and endorsement from their Business Category Manager or General Manager, Coles' Pricing and Value team (whose responsibilities included considering pricing and promotional mechanisms across Coles' entire product range), or senior executives.
18. In this SOAF, the term:
- (a) 'SKU' (short for 'stock keeping unit') refers to the unique article code used to identify a specific product;
 - (b) 'List Price' (also referred to as the wholesale price) refers to the price of a unique SKU supplied by a supplier to Coles, exclusive of any discounts, rebates, offsets, allowances, adjustments and supplier funding that might be agreed between Coles and the supplier;
 - (c) 'Non-Promotional Price' refers to the price at which a product was offered for sale by Coles to consumers, absent any short-term promotion or long-term price reduction (such as a Down Down promotion); and
 - (d) 'Down Down Price' refers to the price at which a product was offered for sale by Coles to consumers while the product was being promoted on a Down Down promotion (i.e. being promoted using Down Down Tickets and offered for sale at a promotional 'Down Down' price in-store and online), as described further in Section D below.
19. During the Relevant Period, Coles had in place a range of promotional and pricing mechanics, including:
- (a) 'Specials', being short-term promotions which typically lasted for a week, where the customer was offered a short-term discount such as $2 or 20% off (Coles also internally referred to these promotions as 'HiLo' promotions);
 - (b) 'Multi-save' or 'Multi-buy', being a promotion where the customer was offered a saving when they bought more than one item; and
 - (c) 'Down Down', being the national, long term promotional program the subject of the Particularised Promotions and explained in detail in Section D below.

C.2. Product tickets

20. Coles communicated the price and, if applicable, the promotional status of products to consumers in Coles Supermarkets and on Coles Online through pricing labels or product tiles (referred to collectively as 'tickets'). Where a product was not on promotion, the product was promoted using a 'standard shelf edge ticket' which reflected the Non-Promotional Price of the product.

21. In-store tickets took the form of physical paper tickets and were typically displayed on the shelf immediately below the relevant product, or otherwise physically near the relevant product. Online tickets took the form of individual product tiles which displayed a photograph of, and information about, a particular product on the Coles Website or in the Coles App. Both in-store and online tickets included certain details about a product, including the product name, the price of the product and, if applicable, any promotional offer for that product.
22. The price of a product was in some instances also communicated to consumers through advertising channels such as catalogues, TV and outdoor media.

D. DOWN DOWN PROGRAM

D.1. Down Down Tickets

23. Coles identified the products which were being promoted on a Down Down promotion in-store and online using different tickets (Down Down Tickets), which distinguished them from products that were not on promotion or were on other forms of promotion, including Specials.
24. Down Down Tickets were displayed in Coles Supermarkets, on the Coles Website, and in the Coles App in the forms of:
 - (a) in-store paper tickets in Coles Supermarkets (typically located on the shelf below the relevant product, or otherwise physically near the relevant product);
 - (b) online product tiles on the Coles Website; and
 - (c) online product tiles in the Coles App.
25. The precise design of Down Down Tickets varied throughout the Relevant Period and depending on whether it was a physical ticket displayed in-store or a digital one displayed online. However, throughout the Relevant Period, all Down Down Tickets (including those used in the course of the Particularised Promotions) shared at least the following features:
 - (a) a red and white colour scheme;
 - (b) details of the relevant product, including its name;
 - (c) the words "Down Down";
 - (d) the Down Down Price; and
 - (e) in most cases, a "was" price of the relevant product, and the date at which the product was offered for sale at that time (for example, "Was $10 July 2024").
26. There were not any material changes to, or differences between, the appearance, layout, or wording of Down Down Tickets over the Relevant Period.

D.2. Internal business rules applying to the Down Down Program

27. Throughout the Relevant Period, Coles had in effect three internal compliance policy documents relating to the Down Down Program, which were updated from time to time. These were:

- (a) the Down Down Factsheet;
- (b) the Promotion Guardrail Factsheet; and
- (c) the Value Guardrails,

(collectively, the Down Down Policies).

28. The table below sets out the periods of time during which various versions of the Down Down Policies applied, and the unique document identifier (Document ID) for the purpose of this proceeding associated with versions of the Down Down Policies.

E. RELEVANT PRODUCTS

29. Annexure 1 identifies, for each of the 255 Particularised Promotions, the following pricing information and the period during which those prices applied (subject to paragraph 31 below):
- 'Price 1' (set out in Column B), being the price at which the product was offered for sale prior to Price 2;
 - 'Price 2' (set out in Column E), being the price at which the product was offered for sale prior to Price 3 (and the 'was' price on the Down Down Tickets displayed during the Price 3 Period as defined in paragraph 31 below); and
 - 'Price 3' (set out in Column H), being the Down Down Price displayed on the Down Down Tickets, following Price 2.
30. Annexure 1 contains information concerning the prices Coles charged, and the dates at which Coles charged those prices, for the Relevant Products during the Relevant Period.
31. The periods of time identified in Column C with respect to Price 1 (the Price 1 Period), Column F with respect to Price 2 (the Price 2 Period), and Column I with respect to Price 3 (the Price 3 Period) are the periods during which a Relevant Product was sold at each price point. Some Relevant Products were also promoted on short-term Specials or Multi-buys during one or more of the Price 1, Price 2, and Price 3 Periods. These and other temporary price fluctuations are not identified in Annexure 1, and the periods in Columns C, F and I include days when the product was on a short-term Special.

32. Except while being promoted on a short-term Special or Multi-buy, the Relevant Products were identified with standard shelf edge tickets during the Price 2 Period and Down Down Tickets during the Price 3 Period. During the Price 1 Period (and excluding when the product was on a short-term Special or Multi-buy), Relevant Products may have been identified with either a standard shelf edge ticket or, if Price 1 was itself also a Down Down Price, a Down Down Ticket. Whenever a Relevant Product was promoted on a short-term Special or Multi-buy (including during a Price 3 Period), the product was temporarily identified with an alternative promotional ticket displaying the details of the relevant short-term promotion for the duration of the relevant promotion.
33. Many of the Relevant Products were part of a product line with other Relevant Products, for the purposes of pricing and Coles' dealings with suppliers. The product lines to which each Relevant Product belonged are set out in Annexure 2.
