Sixth Statement of Agreed Facts

No. VID 973 of 2024

Federal Court of Australia

District Registry: Victoria

Division: General

Commercial and Corporations National Practice Area (Regulator and Consumer Protection)

AUSTRALIAN COMPETITION AND CONSUMER COMMISSION

Applicant

COLES SUPERMARKETS AUSTRALIA PTY LTD (ACN 004 189 708)

Respondent

1. This sixth Statement of Agreed Facts (Sixth SOAF) is made for the purposes of s 191 of the Evidence Act 1995 (Cth) jointly by the applicant, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC), and the respondent, Coles Supermarkets Australia Pty Ltd (Coles).
2. The Sixth SOAF adopts defined terms in the statement of agreed facts filed on 13 June 2025 (First SOAF) and the statement of agreed facts filed on 21 August 2026 (Fifth SOAF). Except where otherwise stated, it applies to each Particularised Promotion in relation to the Other Affected Products.
3. Each of the Other Affected Products was a proprietary (i.e. not a Coles Own Brand) product, except for Coles Finest Fig & Walnut Pepperberry Paste (Product ID 3609360; Particularised Promotion No 31) (Coles Pepperberry Paste), which was a Coles Own Brand product in the same product range as the Coles Finest Quince Paste (Product ID 3609315; Particularised Promotion No 32) Sample Product (Coles Quince Paste). The factual circumstances relating to Coles Quince Paste apply equally to Coles Pepperberry Paste. Like Coles Quince Paste, the circumstances relating to Coles Pepperberry Paste differed from the other 232 Other Affected Products because it is a Coles Own Brand product. Where the agreed facts set out below do not apply to Coles Own Brand products, the parties have identified this by specifying that they relate to proprietary products.
4. Immediately prior to and during the Relevant Period, there was a material increase in inflation. As a result of inflationary pressures being faced by Coles' suppliers, there was a material increase in the volume of cost price alteration (CPA) requests that Coles received during the Relevant Period. Some suppliers were requesting increases to their list prices multiple times in the one year. As a consequence of the increased prices being charged by suppliers, Coles increased the retail price of a large number of products in the Relevant Period.

5. For each Particularised Promotion in relation to the Other Affected Products, the increase to the white ticket price at the end of the Price 1 Period followed either a CPA request from the supplier, or a request by the supplier for changes to the promotional funding for the relevant Other Affected Product, due to cost pressures. For the Other Affected Products identified in Table 1 below, the supplier requested a change to the promotional funding for the proprietary product due to cost pressures, rather than requesting a change to the product's list price.¹

11.	247	WHITE KING MOULD AND SOAP SCUM REMOVER:500 ML (2107821)

¹ In the case of WHITE KING MOULD AND SOAP SCUM REMOVER:500 ML (Product ID 2107821; Particularised Promotion No 247), although the supplier initially requested a cost price increase, the supplier's request was ultimately addressed through a change to the promotional funding for the product by removing the deferred deal.

6. During the Relevant Period, Coles was bound by the Food and Grocery Code of Conduct, being Sch 1 of the Competition and Consumer (Industry Codes—Food and Grocery) Regulation 2015 (Cth) (the Code of Conduct). The Code of Conduct required food and grocery retailers to deal with suppliers in good faith. Coles sought to verify the cost increases claimed by suppliers. Where the cost increases could not be justified, Coles sought to negotiate a reduction in the price increases sought by suppliers. The cost price increases, for the amounts Coles paid to its suppliers, were the result of commercial negotiations with the relevant supplier in the usual course of business. The nature of the resulting retail price increase for Coles Pepperberry Paste is substantially similar to Coles Quince Paste. For the remaining Other Affected Products, in each instance the resulting retail price increase had a reasonable commercial basis.
7. The acceptance by Coles of a CPA request changed the commercial terms of trade between the supplier and Coles. Typically, this included a change to the supplier's list prices and also a change to the other terms of trade, including promotional funding for proprietary products. As a consequence, Coles ceased to offer the product for sale at its previous retail price. If the product had been offered on a Down Down promotion, it was withdrawn from that promotion.
8. In connection with the acceptance by Coles of a CPA request, for proprietary products the supplier and Coles typically negotiated a new trade or promotional plan for the retail sale of the products concerned. Typically, a cost price increase affected a large number of proprietary products supplied by the supplier to Coles, and a new trade or promotional plan was required for each proprietary product. The promotional plans for proprietary products typically varied for each of the supplier's products or groups of products.
9. Promotional plans for proprietary products typically included:
 - (a) selling products on a white ticket at a price which often equated to any recommended retail price the supplier provided;
 - (b) selling products on an Every Day Price ticket at a retail price that was typically lower than any recommended retail price;
 - (c) selling products on a HiLo strategy, whereby the product would be sold for most weeks of the year on a white ticket at a price which often equated to any recommended retail price, and sold on a Special ticket at a heavily discounted price for a lesser number of weeks; and
 - (d) selling products on a white ticket at a price which often equated to any recommended retail price for a period to 'establish' a new undiscounted shelf price before placing the product on a Down Down Ticket at a reduced price.
10. For most of the Other Affected Products: the product was a single product within a range of products supplied by the relevant supplier to Coles; for proprietary products, different promotional plans were negotiated and agreed for each product within the range; and the majority of products within the range were not promoted using the Down Down mechanic.

11. Coles (and suppliers of proprietary products) did not seek to promote a supplier's range of products on the Down Down mechanic in a widespread and cynical manner. Where trade plans were agreed with the supplier, for most of the Other Affected Products, the supplier and Coles agreed that the product would be sold at a white ticket price only for the duration of the price establishment period that was required by Coles' guardrails, following which the product would be sold on a Down Down Ticket at a lower price (generally supported by promotional funding). Coles offered the product for sale at the white ticket price for a temporary period to enable it to promote the product on a Down Down Ticket consistently with the guardrails.
12. During the 'price establishment period', for the majority of the Particularised Promotions involving proprietary products, the Other Affected Products were sold on a white ticket (Price 2) at a price that equated to the supplier's recommended retail price. Although Coles determined the retail price at which a product was sold in its supermarkets, Coles frequently adopted the supplier's recommended retail price as the white ticket price. Further:
 - (a) in setting their recommended retail prices, suppliers conducted careful and detailed product research and analysis, which included assessing the pricing of other products within the supplier's portfolio, the pricing of competitor products and the potential impact of setting the recommended retail price at a given level on sales volumes;
 - (b) Coles found that suppliers' recommended retail prices were generally appropriate and competitive prices; and
 - (c) it was standard practice for suppliers to set a single recommended retail price for each product for all retailers, including Coles, Woolworths and IGA.
13. Coles did not select an artificially high white ticket price as Price 2 for the Other Affected Products in order to increase the perceived discount on the Down Down Ticket.
14. For each Particularised Promotion involving proprietary products, Price 2 of the Other Affected Product had a reasonable commercial basis.
15. For each Particularised Promotion in relation to the Other Affected Products, the Other Affected Product was offered for sale at the white ticket price (Price 2) in the ordinary course of Coles' business and was sold in commercial volumes at that price during the Price 2 Period.
16. Annexure 1 of this Sixth SOAF is a list of all 244 Particularised Promotions (in respect of both the Sample Products and the Other Affected Products) where the 'Was' price and date were displayed on the Down Down Ticket during the Price 3 Period (in at least some States and for at least some of the Price 3 Period). For these Particularised Promotions, where the 'Was' price and date were not displayed (i.e. suppressed) on the Down Down Ticket for part of the Price 3 Period or in certain States only, that is identified in Annexure 1.

ANNEXURE 1

Note: All Particularised Promotions relating to the Relevant Products have been included in Annexure 1, except for the 11 promotions that had the 'Was' price and date suppressed in all States for the entirety of the Price 3 Period (as set out in Annexures 1 and 2 of the Fifth SOAF). Where the 'Was' price and date was suppressed (i.e. not displayed on the Down Down Ticket) in certain States only for a particular period, that is noted in Column C immediately after the particular period.

Key

*	Where there are two Particularised Promotions for a Relevant Product, there are two rows for that product included in this Annexure. The second row for each of these products is marked with an "*" in column B.
